Excerpt: . . . of chapter 57 of the General Statutes. Section 1 gave a right of action only where the death of a person not in the employment of a railroad company was caused by the negligence of the OWI1(S, . th(ii) agents, etc. Section 3 gave a right of action for the loss of life by willful neglect, a statutory variety of negligence not known to the common law, and provided that the widow, heir or, personal representative of the deceased person shall have the right to sue and recover punitive damages. We thus find the first section providing for the recovery of damages, and the third providing for the recovery of punitive damages, from which it was plain that the Legislature did not use the word damages in the first section in its unqualified meaning so to include punitive damages as provided for in the...
