The publisher is William R. Parks www.wrparks.com. The printer is CreateSpace. James Easton, instructor at Erie Community College in Buffalo, NY, finds Program Your Calculator a very useful text for both individual and classroom settings, especially at a time when programming is rarely taught in mathematics classes. Easton said, Students gain much insight into mathematical concepts through programming. The book opens that opportunity to them and triples the power of the calculator. Professor Rising explains why he considers their book important: Check any science lab or engineering workplace and you will find an extraordinary number of hand-held calculators in daily use, but too few users employ the programming power of their calculators. By programming them according to the instructions this text provides, they can make their tiny devices respond to the specific...
